

IASE NEWS

April 2023

The International Association for Statistical Education (IASE)

I am so excited this month because we are getting closer to IASE Satellite 2023 in Toronto and IASE Executive committee new members election is on. Early bird registrations are available until 30 April 2023, go to <https://iase2023satellite.github.io/registration.html> to register. Cast your vote going to <https://s-b8a83e-i.sgizmo.eu/s3/i-0000000-286699/>

Remember you can also register for the 64th ISI World Statistics Congress (<https://www.isi2023.org/>), earlybird is closing on 17 April 2023.

If you are unable to travel to Canada, you might not be able to engage with 64th WSC since it is only face-to-face but our own IASE 2023 satellite is hybrid, so you can engage with participants wherever you are in the world.

We have a break from past-presidents' reflection this month, more to come in coming months. Please let me know what else you want to see in the newsletters since soon we will have all past presidents' reflections, there will be space to add something which you might want to see.

I am attaching this monthly newsletter as a PDF document to this email. The weblinks should work in the pdf but not in this text message. If the attachment of the newsletter is missing, you can find it at <https://iase-web.org/News.php>.

Election of officers for the IASE Executive Committee

By Ayse Aysin Bombaci Bilgin (A²B²), IASE President

The nomination committee for 2023-2025, chaired by the Past President Joachim Engel (Germany) consisted of John Bailer (US – Past ISI president), Andrej Blejec (Slovenia – Past IASE president), Marcos Magalhaes (Brazil), Delia North (South Africa – Past IASE Vice President). The ISI organized the elections.

You would have already received an email from ISI, please check your junk email folder if you missed the email or simply click on <https://s-b8a83e-i.sqizmo.eu/s3/i-0000000-286699/> so that you can vote to elect the officers for 2023-2025.

ISI Membership Elections

By Ayse Aysin Bombaci Bilgin (A²B²), IASE President

I strongly encourage all of the IASE members to become elected ISI members. The information needed to become an ISI elected member can be found at <https://www.isi-web.org/membership/individual/elected>. If you need help identifying people to nominate your ISI elected membership, you can find the names of ISI members at <https://www.isi-web.org/about/members/individual>. Please do not let one more year go, consider applying as soon as you can to become an elected ISI member to become a member of wider community.

IASE 2023 Satellite Conference

Fostering Learning of Statistics and Data Science

Hybrid Conference

11-13 July 2023, Toronto, Canada

By Sotirios Damouras, on behalf of the IASE 2023 Local Organizing Committee

We are excited to share the latest news on the IASE 2023 Satellite Conference.

Program: The presentation & poster proposal review process is now complete, and notifications have been sent out to all authors. We have a line-up of more than 40 presentations and 35 posters, spanning a range of topics at the forefront of the conference theme of Fostering Learning of Statistics and Data Science. We are also proud to announce three exciting keynote speakers: Chris Wild, Shingai Manjengwa, and Jürgen Symanzik, who will offer their insights on the theme, as well as a panel of educators sharing ways in which Learning Science informs their practice in Statistics and Data Science classes. You can find our keynote bios at the conference Program page, which we will be updating regularly as the program takes shape.

Registration: Registration for the conference is now open! This is the first ever hybrid IASE Satellite conference, offering the option to attend either in-person or online. Please consult the conference Registration page for details on ticket types, associated fees, and policies before you register. To encourage participation of underrepresented groups, the conference offers affordable online tickets to students, teachers, retirees, and persons from developing countries, as well as potential registration support for the latter. Registration can be purchased through the conference's online platform at https://whova.com/portal/registration/iascs_202307/, using a variety of payment methods. We encourage you to register by April 30, to take advantage of the early bird fees.

Local Information: The in-person portion of the conference will be hosted by the Department of Statistical Sciences at the University of Toronto. The venue is conveniently located at the heart of the city, served by public transit and close to multiple attractions. For those requiring accommodation, the conference has blocked-off rooms at a nearby hotel and residence, at very competitive prices for that time of year. You can find more details and instructions on how to book at the conference Local Info page. We strongly encourage you to make your reservation as soon as possible, in order to take advantage of the favourable prices and avoid the summer rush.

We hope that you will join us for the IASE 2023 Satellite Conference and make this a productive and inspiring event.

If you have any inquiries, please email the conference organizers at IASE2023.Satellite@gmail.com.

64th ISI World Statistics Congress 2023 – Ottawa, Canada

OZCOTS (Australian Conference on Teaching Statistics) 14-15 December 2023, Wollongong, Australia

By Ayse Aysin Bombaci Bilgin (A²B²), IASE President, OZCOTS Program Chair

We invite you to participate in OZCOTS 2023, the 11th Australian Conference on Teaching Statistics. OZCOTS 2023 will run as a hybrid Conference on Thursday 14th and Friday 15th December, 2023 and will consider many challenges of teaching Statistics for future statisticians, statistical users and consumers under the theme of "Statistics as a Big Tent: Statistics and Data Science Education". OZCOTS 2023 is building on the success of the timing and format of earlier OZCOTS as a conjoint event with the Australian Statistical Conference (ASC), to be held as a hybrid Conference in Wollongong University, Australia and online, with an overlap on Thursday 14th December 2023.

The Scientific Program Committee is pleased to invite authors to submit abstracts for oral and poster presentations, to be delivered at the 2023 Australian Statistical Conference \(ASC\) and Australian Conference on Teaching Statistics \(OZCOTS\), which will take place in Wollongong from the 10th to the 15th of December 2023.

Please click here to submit your abstract. You will be asked to create an account with Oxford Abstract. Just follow the prompts.

The abstract submission deadline is 24 April 2023.

Competitions

The Stats+Stories podcast is in its 10th year and is about to have its 300th episode. They are hosting a contest where people are encouraged to explore the data set composed on the details (e.g. guests, episode length, description, and more) from previous 280+ episodes. Individuals, groups, classes can enter this contest.

See the stories at <https://statsandstories.net/datavizcontest>

In the latest episode of Stats+Stories, they put out a call for YOU the Stats + Stories audience to participate in our 300th episode. They have put out a data set containing various information on over 280 episodes of Stats+Stories recorded over the past decade, which they want you to use to create visualizations and tell a story with their data!

You can view the full document (via Google Docs) by clicking on the image to the right (on the contest page), as well as download the data as an Excel file or view the Key and Data as separate CSV files.

You can submit your entries by filling out the form below. Static displays, dynamic dashboards, and insightful analyses are all invited to enter (the more unique the better). All entries must be submitted by June 30th at 12:00 AM EST. The finalist will be selected and announced the day after and fan voting will take place until August 31st at 11:59 PM EST. The winner will be featured on the 300th episode of Stats+Stories and will receive a copy of John and Rosemary's new book "Statistics Behind the Headlines", as well as some Stats+Stories swag.
