

CONTRIBUTED POSTER DISPLAYS

Teaching statistics from 6 to 11: new trends in Italy
L. Bazzini—University of Pavia, Italy

Teaching hypothesis testing as a ten-step process
R. Beyth-Marom—Everyman's University, Israel

A Minitab approach to teaching college statistics
W.R. Blischke and J.S. Ford—University of Southern California, USA

A survey of high school opinion
M.K. Dirks—North Central High School, USA

Probability and statistics investigations using a microcomputer
D. Green—Loughborough University of Technology, England

A computer-based laboratory for introductory statistics
R.B. Lind—University of Puget Sound, USA

Materials for teaching statistical consulting
D. Meeter—Florida State University, USA

Statistical simulation of human intuition
B. Sandler—Ben-Gurion University Israel

Unpreparedness for statistics learning
F. Sharples—University of Waikato, New Zealand

Teaching statistics in Nigerian secondary schools
P.I. Uche—University of Nigeria, Nigeria

Graphics in business statistics: selected software capabilities
B. Whitten—University of Georgia, USA
J. Van Matre—University of Alabama, USA

Teaching probability using non-cubic dice
H. Yoshida—Association of Mathematics Instruction, Japan